MESSAGE TO THE CONGRESS DECEMBER 8, 1941

Paragraph One

Yesterday, December 7, 1941 – a date which will live in infamy/the United States of America was suddenly and deliberately/attacked by naval and air forces of the Empire of Japan.
Paragraph Two
The United States was at the moment at peace with that nation and, at the solicitation/of Japan, was still in conversation/with its government and its Emperor looking towards the maintenance/ of peace in the Pacific. Indeed, one hour after Japanese air squadrons had commenced bombing in Oahu, the Japanese Ambassador to the United States and his colleague/delivered to the Secretary of State a formal reply to a recent American message.
While this reply stated that it seemed useless to continue the existing diplomatic negotiations, it contained no threat or hint of war or armed attack.
Paragraph Three
It will be recorded that the distance of Hawaii from Japan makes it obvious that the attack was deliberately/planned many days or even weeks ago. During the intervening time the Japanese Government has	deliberately sought to deceive the United States by false statements/	and expressions of hope for continued peace.

Paragraph Four

Paragraph Five

Yesterday the Japanese Government also launched an attack against Malaya.

Last night Japanese forces attacked Guam.

Last night Japanese forces attacked the Philippine Islands.

Paragraph Six

Japan has, therefore, undertaken a surprise offensive/______extending throughout the Pacific area. The facts of yesterday speak for themselves. The people of the United States have already formed their opinions/_____ and well understand the implications/_____ to the very safety of our nation.

As Commander-in-Chief/ of the Army and Navy I have directed that all measures be taken for our defense.
Paragraph Seven
Long will we remember the character of the onslaught/ against us.
Paragraph Eight
No matter how long it may take us to overcome this premeditated/invasion, the American people will in their righteous/might win through to absolute/ victory.
I speak the will of the Congress and of the people when I assert that we will not only defend ourselves to the uttermost/ but will see to it that this form of treachery/ shall never endanger us again.
